HELPFUL PLANTING GUIDE
AUTUMN-1927

D. N. Sheemaker
Collins “Nine Reasons Why” Collection

contains 9 Hardy Garden Favorites (once planted, good for years to come): 3 Larkspur, 4 Phlox, 1 Coreopsis and 1 Columbine—nine vigorous hardy plants, (grown especially for setting out this fall to give you full measure of bloom all next spring, summer and fall)—all for $1.95, postpaid, to you.

Each one of the nine living, growing plants in this unique offer vouches for one or more of the nine reasons listed below:

NINE REASONS WHY

1—Plants set out in September and October have nine months start over the spring-set plants.
2—The strength of autumn-set plants is all used in fall to make roots under the soil and no effort is wasted on leaves and branching out.
3—Rootlets grow and develop whenever the ground is warmer than 40 degrees temperature. (There are weeks of such weather still to come.)
4—Plants set out in early autumn become firmly rooted before winter.
5—The first warm spring days find your fall-planted plants making growth above ground.
6—Therefore, being well-established, they will bloom on time like the other fully developed plants in your garden.
7—You have more time to plant in autumn, the ground is mellow, warm and ready.
8—We have a bigger supply of plants and a larger variety in the fall than in the spring, from which you may choose.
9—The best planters, the most experienced gardeners—all of us—urge you to “plant in the fall and save a year.”

$1.95 Offer includes these 9 Plants

LARKSPUR (DELPHNIMUM). One of the oldest of all old-fashioned flowers, becoming more popular now than ever. Its very name is alluring, suggesting sky and blue in all shades. Indeed, Larkspur shows us more blues than we imagine existed—from azure of sky to deep ocean blue. Some have centers of gold. Larkspur’s noble spikes introduce rare colors, eagerly sought, into your garden. Blooms a-plenty in June, all through hot July and often in September—erect, stately spikes—2 to 6 feet high, set among beautifully cut foliage. Fine along fence, or in hardy borders—excellent among annuals. Lasts days as cut flowers.

In this remarkable offer we supply plants raised from seeds secured from the famous H. J. Jones Collection, the finest selection of Hybrid Delphinium available today.

COREOPSIS—Cheery, rich golden-yellow blooms—a mass of gold—appear early in June, the most sparkling yellow imaginable. They excite admiration, all summer, fall, and until late autumn frosts. Each plant develops into fine large clumps, 3 to 4 feet high, just covered with golden flowers. Excellent for cutting, blooms last very long—brighten any bouquet. No less an authority than Professor Alfred C. Hottes says Coreopsis is surely one plant that should be in every garden.

Our strain is especially selected for large flowers, often three inches across.

HARDY PHLOX—the good old favorite. Takes it upon itself to continue the pace set by gorgeous June—on through the hot summer months, until fall, when other glorious colors take possession of gardens, such as Chrysanthemums. Great flower clusters forming large heads, borne 1½ to 3 feet high. Brilliantly colored—all possible shades and combinations of pink, orange, red, white, violet, salmon and scarlet. Filled with a delicate fragrance. Bloom incessantly.

COLUMBINE (AQUILEGIA). From May on, these finest strain long spurred Columbines reward you with a profusion of elegantly formed blooms, white (as illustrated) or the richest conceivable lines of pink, lavender, yellow, etc. Brighten any border planting. Valuable for cutting.

This attractive photograph was sent to us by one of our customers, unsolicited by us. He says: "On October 22, 1915, I received 900 California Privet plants from you, and the hedge which they form is certainly fine. I will enclose cards showing hedge and house. If you can use them, you are welcome to them. I am well pleased with the hedge. It has grown 2½ feet wide and 2½ feet high in 4 years."

Collins California Privet

What is Collins California Privet? It is a strong, healthy plant with glossy green leaves, and when mature it bears small clusters of white flowers.

For what are the plants used? For hedges, for screens, for planting between the lawn and the street, for clumps on the lawn, for arches, for flanking walk entrances, and for one hundred other purposes.

Do you just plant them? Yes, that's all; set them out in a single row (or if you prefer in a double row) six inches apart in the row, and if in double row plant them staggered. This requires two to the foot, or 100 plants for 50 feet. Tramp the earth well about the roots and trim the hedge off even on top.

Are Collins Privet Plants healthy? Yes. They are grown on strong, Jersey soil, we keep them well farmed, which kills the weeds and makes the plants grow fast, and we give them liberal helpings of fertilizer and manure. That ought to make them healthy and happy, and they are.

So popular has this California Privet Hedging become that we venture to say that there is more of it planted each year about the properties in the eastern section of the United States than all other varieties of hedging material put together.

Some Suggestions on the Planting of Collins Privet and Barberry

Plant them in a row in front of your porch.
Plant them in opposite rows down each side of your walk.
Group them at the walk entrance.
Group them on both sides of your front steps.
Plant at the bases of shrubs and trees to hide unsightly bare spaces.
Plant them on the bare side of your house where other plants have failed.
Japan Barberry Plants
(Berberis Thunbergi)

"If Winter Comes" and leaves your garden more desolate each week—if you long for a dwarf hedge that will supply the touch of brightness throughout the Winter, that will bring the robins to your garden to feast in early Spring before the worms are above ground, investigate this Barberry offering NOW.

No Disease—No Insects attack this species of Barberry. Highly recommended by all authorities. The dangerous sort, Berberis Vulgaris, we have never handled.

THE IDEAL HEDGE PLANT

For a dwarf hedge Japan Barberry is ideal. The branches are gracefully curved, and grow so thickly they make a dense hedge. You need trim it only four or five times a year to keep it low, bushy and compact. Plant one foot apart.

Throughout the summer the foliage is a beautiful green and very pleasing, changing to a fiery blaze of bright orange and scarlet in autumn, rivaling the changing maples and oaks. In winter its brilliant red berries shine gaily through the glistening ice on the branches and are the delight of the earliest birds in spring which seek them eagerly. Our plants are well-rooted, well-grown, and very bushy.

The above text, originated by us, has been widely copied. That's easy, but to copy the quality of these Collins-grown Barberry Plants is not so easy.

New Red-Leaved Japanese Barberry
(Berberis Thunbergii Atropurpurea) Introduced for the first time in America.

New. Being sold last autumn for the first time. The new Red-leaved Barberry is an outstanding novelty and unquestionably is the most valuable ornamental shrub that has been offered for years. A specimen that should be on every lawn.

It is identical in habit of growth with the popular Japanese Barberry and its foliage from when it develops in early spring until fall assumes a rich bronze-red color. In the fall it takes on the brilliant varied colors of ordinary Japanese Barberry in an intensified form, holding its bright, scarlet berries throughout the entire winter.

It is a true Rust-Resisting Sport of Berberis Thunbergi—tests by the Department of Agriculture have shown that it does not harbor wheat rust, as does the Vulgaris type.
“People won't believe they are my roses”

Last year I secured 10 rose bushes from you and I will say they did everything you claimed they would and more. They were beautiful. I picked roses from them until November 2nd. At times when I would give a rose or two to some one who would stop in they would ask where I bought the roses. When they were informed that they came from my own garden they would respond with, “Not these roses; you didn’t get them out of your garden.”

COLUMBIA BUSHS SPROUTS ON ARRIVAL

Your “Roses” arrived today and my mother and myself remarked how beautiful they are. The “Columbia” had a new sprout coming out already. They are wonderful.

Miss I. R., Toledo, Ohio.

A FEW WORDS FROM OUR GOOD FRIENDS—OUR CUSTOMERS

COLLINS ROSE BEST OREGON EVER SAW

We received your roses last year and must say they have stood the winter this year better than any of my old roses and bloomed continually last summer. They are the best I ever saw.

Mrs. P. L. I., Pendleton, Ore.

COLUMBIA BUDS IN 40 DAYS

The Columbia has one bud—approximately 40 days after its arrival.

A. D. B., Bethlehem, Pa.

PEOPLE COME FROM EVERYWHERE TO SEE ROSES

Dear Sirs:

I have had such success with my collections of roses that I want my friends to have them too and enjoy them. I believe I have introduced the Collins Roses to this locality, at least this town. My Ophelia has 35 buds and full blown roses at one time. The Premier is my favorite, and is a most wonderful rose, blooming constantly until frost; all of them do in fact. People come to visit me from everywhere just to see my roses. Everything I have plucked from your Nurseries have lived and grown well, and I am glad to recommend you to others.

Mrs. S. J. R., Sullivan, Missouri.

4½" ROSES FROM COLUMBIA BUSHS IN 41 DAYS

Roses received June 3rd and all are doing nicely. In 30 days we had the first bud, and 14 days later a wonderful flower on the Columbia, measuring 4½ inches across.

J. P. M., York, Pa.

COLUMBIA PRODUCES SEVERAL DOZEN BLOOMS

Just a word to let you know of the wonderful success I had with your roses last summer. Columbia produced several dozen wonderful blooms. Golden Ophelia bloomed from June 28th to November 20th. Twenty of its flowers measured 1½ inches across. Of the climbing roses, the American Pillar produced 6 clusters of from 15 to 20 blooms each, while the Cl. America also made a very splendid growth. Thanking you for your careful consideration and excellent service.

Mrs. A. P. G., Gloucester, Mass.

EVERGREEN COLLECTION LOOKS FINE

Last October I bought the $10.00 collection of evergreens and every one of them lived and look fine.

Unsolicited PRAISE

Bespeaks Unusual SATISFACTION

BEATS MR. YOUNG’S PRIVET (See Page 14)

I was reading in your catalogue in regard to the hedge of California Privet of John G. Young. I must say it, I bought some Privet of you last spring and set it sometime in April, cutting it down to six inches. In June I cut off one-half of the new growth. It stands today 3½ inches high and 22 inches wide (August 19th).

I never saw anything grow as it does, but I am cultivating it and giving it the best of care.

COLUMBIA PRODUCES FINE BIG ROSES

I am well pleased with the Golden Ophelia. It is one of the largest I have ever seen. I had as many as 15 buds and roses on it at one time, and it bloomed up until December. And my Columbia has such fine big roses, and my White Killarney had 20 buds on it last year and 5 roses at one time. I will always praise your roses for I love roses and I work with them like children and they all bloomed until December. I hope some day to be able to buy more of your roses.

Mrs. W. J. B., Media, Pa.

My garden of Collins Rose Bushes and other plants are painted out as a gorgeous fairy spot by my neighbors. We have also planted the “Mums” collection, which are thriving greatly.

Hardy Chrysanthemums

Make Fall a Riot of Color in Your Garden

Nothing else in the hardy garden so captivates us all in Fall as these “Mums,” as they are affectionately called. Eagerly sought by “garden beginners,” cherished by the most experienced of flower-lovers. The most prolific, satisfactory and reliable of all flower favorites, the Hardy Chrysanthemums are the frame-work and backbone of the Hardy Garden in Autumn. Spicy, colorful, floriferous—their blooms continue to pour out their pungent perfume, and to radiate brightness all Fall, even after frost and snow have “put to sleep” everything else in the garden.

shown on facing page, shows what one flower-lover accomplished last Autumn in brightening her garden by planting the REMARKABLE SPECIAL OFFER, shown below. For as is our custom, we had this offer tested out thoroughly before it was included in our catalog.

What a profusion of blooms she had! What a surprising color range! What a wondrous variety of forms and shapes, astounding to the person who associates the term “hardy chrysanthemums” with the drab, dwarf flowers of our grandparents!
